More Government High-ups Named in Communist Probe

WASHINGTON, March 14—(P)—Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) charged today the State Department gave a high post to a former Spanish Republican army officer, Gustavo Duran, although U. S. army reports labeled him a Russian agent.

Continuing to detail to a Senate investigating committee his contention that the department has employed poor security risks, McCarthy also said that:

Dr. Harlow Shapley, American delegate to a United Nations commission, has been affiliated with at least 36 Communist-front organizations.

A reported sexual pervert—he did not identify the person—had been "allowed to resign" from the State Department in 1948 and now is employed by the Central Intelligence Administration at $12,000 a year.

He has heard reports that John Stewart Service, American consul at Calcutta, was considered a bad security risk by the Loyalty Appeal Board of the Civil Service Commission in a decision reached last March 3.

McCarthy asked the Senate investigators to check on this.

Cold Weather Over Midwest

(By The Associated Press)
Winter kept pouring on snow and cold over wide areas of the nation today.

Temperatures generally were not on the near-spring side and in most areas they were below normal or at seasonal levels.

The weather was chilly throughout most of the Midwest and over the northeastern section of the country. The freezing line extended into parts of the South and touched northern Louisiana, west central Mississippi, northern Alabama, all of Tennessee and north-west Virginia.

No sub-zero marks were reported but a fresh batch of cold air from central Canada moved into North Dakota and spread into Minnesota. Some below zero readings were in prospect in northern Minnesota and the Dakotas tonight.

Income Tax Deadline Woes!

Have You Ever Gone Through This?

BY ED CREAGH
NEW YORK, March 14—(P)—"If only you wouldn't put everything off 'till the last minute," my wife said. "If only—"

"Shhhh," I said. "How can I concentrate on line 6, page 3?"

"Three months you've had to do this. But no. You have to wait until practically midnight, March 15."

"Shhhh."

"I don't know how you—what's that you said? Line 6, page 3?"

"Un-huh."

"You may not have noticed, Eagle Eye, but line 6, page 3, is to be filled in by single people. You're married. Remember?"

"Look, I said, 'if you know so much about this—'"

In other words, the production going on at our house was "Income Tax Return Night." Subtitle: "It Happens Every Year." Maybe you've had the same experience yourself.

Better late than never is my motto. Suppose I sent my return in early—and then got run over by a truck. Suppose (Ha!) Congress repealed the income tax after I'd paid mine. Suppose—

"Well," I said, a few minutes later. "This is a pleasant surprise. I figure the government owes me $6,451.76."

"What?"

"Wait a minute. I added wrong. It's only $6,451.76."

"Let me see—that," said my wife. I handed it over with the confident air of a bridge player trumping an ace. "Oh, no," my wife said. Her voice trembled. "Oh, no. Not even you."

"Ah—did I make a mistake?"

"Look. Look at 8 (a)—'By tax withheld (in Item 2 above).'"

Lustron Corp. Gets 'Reprieve' Until April 3

Extension Granted By Court, but Cut In Costs Ordered

COLUMBUS, March 14—(P)—Lustron Corp. will stay in business until April 3—but the pre-fab housing firm's overhead will be slashed again.

U. S. District Judge Mell G. Underwood granted Lustron a "reprieve" last night, several hours after he had threatened to close the plant at once because it was losing money.

Lustron is being operated by Clyde M. Foraker, court-appointed receiver, for a 30-day trial period due to end April 3. Foraker was appointed after the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, which bankrolled the Lustron operation, obtained a judgment for more than $36,000,000.

Earlier yesterday Judge Underwood said it would take about $500,000 to operate the plant during the 30-day period. He said the court would not take responsibility for such a loss unless the RFC asked the plant be kept running.

Last week, Foraker, seeking to cut operating expenses, fired four of Lustron's top officials, including Carl G. Strandlund, its $50,000 a year president. About 200 office employees also got the ax.

Still further economies are promised under Judge Underwood's decision to let the plant stay in business.

About 800 workers remain at Lustron.

Judge Underwood also allowed Strandlund until April 15 to answer RFC allegations involving his personal default on about $15,000,000 of the $37,500,000 loaned Lustron.

Income Tax Dodgers Government Target

NEW YORK, March 14—(P)—Federal prosecutors went to work today on a stack of indictments accusing 34 persons and nine firms of cheating the government out of more than two million in wartime income taxes.

A special federal grand jury returned 23 indictments yesterday—almost on the eve of tomorrow's deadline for payment of 1949 income taxes. More indictments were expected today.

The defendants allegedly failed to report income totalling an estimated $2,819,081 between the years 1942 and 1946, thereby defrauding the government of $2,032,649 in taxes.

The individuals, most of them New York business men in the high income brackets, were scheduled for arraignment tomorrow before Federal Judge Harold R. Medina.

U. S. Attorney Irving H. Saypol said most of the defendants concealed money made on the black market during the days of rationing and scarcity.

Girl Movie Actress Runs Away Because of Diet To Keep Role

HOLLYWOOD, March 14—(P)—Lora Lee Michel, nine-year-old child movie actress, ran away from her foster parents' home last night and deputies said she was being starved so that she could play little girl roles.

The sheriff's office reported that the girl fled in her pajamas last night shortly before Mrs.

Step-son Out on Bond After Stabbing Here

A man, whose request to be locked in jail to keep him out of trouble was refused, today was in a hospital with a knife wound in his stomach and his step-son was facing grand jury action on charges of stabbing with intent to kill.

As result of an encounter between Noah Stant, 45, and his step-son, George Robert (Red) Kimball, 28, at the Stant home, 223 East Market Street Monday about 1:30 P. M., Stant is in University Hospital, Columbus, with a knife wound in his abdomen, and Kimball is in the city jail facing a charge of stabbing with intent to kill.

The cutting, done with a pocket knife owned by Kimball, allegedly took place when Stant attacked his step-son in their home.

Stant underwent an operation and his condition Tuesday was reported as favorable for speedy recovery.

In police court Tuesday, Kimball pleaded innocent and was held to the grand jury under $1,000 bond, which he furnished.

Kimball, in an interview with a Record-Herald reporter talked freely and unhesitatingly about the affair. He had no intention of stabbing his stepfather, and had no recollection of cutting him.

He told substantially the same story to the police and City Solicitor W. W. Hill.

Kimball said: "I went home at the noon hour and was frying an egg when Noah came into the kitchen and threatened me. I did not want any trouble so I left and came up to the police station."

"I told one of the policemen about the matter and asked him to go with me to get my money. I had the money in my room upstairs, but forgot to tell the officer where it was, and I guess he thought Noah had it. I think that is the reason the policeman would not go home with me. I intended to get me a room somewhere."

Knife Was Open

"I returned home to get my money. I had run some splinters into my hands at the Coffman Mill, where I work and had my pocket-knife open working on the splinters."

"When I walked into the house and started across the room, Noah came at me as if he were going to beat me up."

"I don't know just what happened then, but I don't recall sticking him with the knife. I was scared and I might have done that without knowing it. I did not mean to stab him. He had been drinking."

Kimball said he went to the stair company plant to call a doctor for Stant.

Stant was taken to the office of Dr. Marvin Roszmann, where examination showed the wound in his abdomen just below the belt, was approximately 1½ inches in depth. Indications were that it was serious.

Stant was rushed to University Hospital, where it was expected an operation would be performed. He was moved in the Gerstner ambulance.

Asked To Be Jailed

Officials said that Stant had appeared at the sheriff's office late Monday forenoon and asked them to "lock me up to keep me out of trouble."

As there was no charge against him, his request was denied. After remaining in the sheriff's office sometime, he left.

It was some two hours later that the stabbing occurred at his home, 323 East Market Street.

Kimball was taken into custody when police learned about the affair. He was locked up without formal charge being filed against him.

It was indicated that the officers expected to wait to see the outcome of the wound sustained by Stant, before filing charges against Kimball.

Profit Record Hit By General Motors

NEW YORK, March 14—(P)—The General Motors Corporation announced last night that its profit had reached a record of $656,434,232 in 1949 and that its payroll had soared to a new peak of $1,440,690,450.

The firm's annual report to its 434,000 stockholders also disclosed that production, sales and tax payments had hit record highs.

The 1949 earnings were equivalent to $14.64 a share of common stock. This compared with the previous high of $9.72 a share in 1948 when profits reached $440,447,724.

New Wonder Drug Production Stepped Up by Cancer Research

BY ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
NEW YORK, March 14—(P)—A new, cheap way to make some of man's scarcest, costliest hormones has been discovered in cancer research.

It is done by keeping tiny pituitary glands alive in glass houses. The glands are taken from rats. But they keep living and growing in a special fluid bath.

They become living factories, delivering tiny amounts of hormones three times a week. One hormone is ACTH, a wonder drug for arthritis and other diseases. Another hormone stimulates the sex glands to produce sex hormones. Another controls body growth. Another governs the thyroid gland.

These fantastic factories are pale-pink, and about the size of

James Gang Survivor Dies of Heart Attack At 109 Years of Age

SULLIVAN, Mo., March 14—(P)—James Russell Davis of Nashville Tenn., one of the nation's oldest Civil War veterans, is dead at the age of 109.

Davis was a star witness at the hearing in nearby Union Friday at which J. Frank Dalton, 102, sought to prove he is Jesse James, the notorious outlaw of the last century. Davis testified he was a member of the James gang and identified Dalton as James.

During the hearing the aged Tennessee man said "I've got one foot in the grave and another on the brink."

Davis died here Sunday night of a heart attack. He had remained for a visit with friends after the hearing.

There's Little Joy As Big Waves Toss President's Yacht

ABOARD THE U. S. S. WILLIAM C. LAWE, March 14—(P)—The White House yacht Williams tossed on through heavy seas today, carrying President Truman and his aides on a three weeks vacation trip to Key West, Fla.

There wasn't much vacation joy aboard last night, although any surge of seasickness was denied. Stormy swells have kept most in their cabins since the yacht members of the president's party sailed Sunday. Mr. Truman stayed in bed all day yesterday. Official word was that his meals were "light."

That should have pleased his physician, Brig. General Wallace H. Graham. He wants the president to lop off several of his 175 pounds.

But newsmen aboard this destroyer escorting the Williamsburg had no word from Graham. They did hear that four members of the party turned out for dinner. That was two less than at lunch.

The forecast for most of today was for winds up to 35 knots with swells "rough to very rough."

The Williamsburg was due to pass 65 miles east of Savannah, Ga., this afternoon. She's expected to reach Key West Thursday.

License Is Suspended For Reckless Flying

WOOSTER, March 14—(P)—For reckless flying over this Wayne County seat of about 20,000 Noel Cessna, 27, was fined $25 yesterday. Common Pleas Judge Walter J. Lougey also suspended Cessna's pilot's license for 60 days. Cessna was accused by state patrolmen of violating flying statutes last Dec. 18.

Witchcraft Charges Facing Young Woman

WILMINGTON, Del., March 14—(P)—A 23-year-old woman is held on witchcraft charges under a law dating back to colonial days.

Detective Lieut. George Keimbarger said the woman, Mrs. Helen Evans, was charged with practicing witchcraft yesterday after several of her "clients" complained she put a curse on them while analyzing their hand writing.

The detective said Mrs. Evans, after giving the clients a potion, told them to return in several days and she would remove the resulting curse for a $10 fee.

Under the old law, Keimbarger said, the penalty for practicing witchcraft in Delaware is a fine of $100 or up to a year in prison.

NEW YORK, March 14—(P)—The Fordham University seismograph recorded two sharp earthquakes at 8:35 P. M. (EST) and 10:25 P. M. last night, 3,200 miles south of New York, probably near the border of Ecuador and Peru.

Sheriff-Killer Is Chased into Rugged Country

Wild West Thriller Of Movie Type Now Real Life Drama

MARFA, Texas, March 14—(P)—The hunt for the killer of a Texas sheriff today had all the elements of a wild west thriller—a hand-cuffed fugitive afoot in a rugged mountain chain, pursued by the armed posse on horseback.

Grim-faced sheriffs of the Big Bend country of southwest Texas, Texas rangers and border riders were to ride at dawn—gun belts buckled tight—seeking again the trail of the unidentified slayer.

The shooting early Sunday of Sheriff O. W. (Blackie) Morrow, 43, on a lonely mountain road flipped back the pages of time to the days of the old west.

It brought back the posse on horseback—booted men packing six-shooters, the sign cutters—men who can read a story in a smashed cactus, a scuffed patch of grass.

Texas ranger Gully Cowsett rode into Marfa late last night and said a mounted posse had tracked the killer of Morrow 15 miles through rugged mountains, but lost his trail near the Mexican border.

Cowsett was to lead the posse again this morning. River riders patrolled the Rio Grande through the night to prevent the killer from slipping into Mexico—if he hasn't done so.

Morrow, a popular navy veteran serving his second term, was shot and left dying early Sunday on a lonely road between here and Presidio, nestled against the Rio Grande. The sheriff, blood pouring from a hole through the left side of his body, managed to get into his car and drive a mile toward Presidio before he died.

The shooting occurred about 11 miles north of Presidio, midway between there and Shafter, a ghost silver and lead mining town.

Cowsett said his posse—made up of officers who are experienced horsemen and trackers—picked up the trail about half a mile from the spot where Morrow's car ran into a ditch when he died.

Spending Warning Repeated by Taft

DEFIANCE, March 14—(P)—If the government continues to spend more than it takes in, the result could be "completely demoralizing," Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) said last night.

The Ohio senior senator's speech in the community auditorium was his third appearance here. Earlier yesterday he addressed Defiance college students and the Defiance Rotary Club.

He said last night: "Once Congress accepts the policy that it doesn't have to pay back its debts, there is no limit on the extent to which the deficit might be increased. Such a policy would be completely demoralizing for our people because it is based on the impossible premise that you can have something for nothing."

He called permanent deficit spending repudiation of the national debt.

Meanderings

By Wash Fayette

The Indians have started to take over Sabina. Most of them are young braves, however.

Seems that some of the boys down there saw Don Eagle, the Indian wrestler, performing over television and the youths got the idea of cutting their hair like Don. (The Eagle haircut consists of about a three-inch wide strip down the middle, tapering in the back of the head.)

When they came home, their mothers took some of their tail feathers out. One of the barbers in town hiked the price of the haircuts to $1 apiece, and the other discouraged the youths from cropping their heads to look like the hero of the television waves.

The popularity of the Eagle haircut had not completely died away by Saturday, however. If it continues much further some of the mothers promised some real scalpings when their young charges come home looking like the next thing to a bald eagle

The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, Mar. 14.—(P)—The words "communist" and "fellow-traveler" and "sympathizer" have been flung around Washington plenty.

Communists have been found in the government, and rooted out. No doubt others still are there, unbound.

To dig them out will require constant vigilance by the president and Congress, and on down the government line.

But there is a big difference between putting a communist tag on a man and proving it.

The feeling against communism in this country has run so high that at times it has almost approached hysteria.

The mere accusation of communism against a man these days is enough to ruin him or fill his spirit with agony—if he's not a communist.

Yet, some innocent people have been smeared with the communist label, directly or by innuendo.

How does that happen? Recklessness, sometimes, and sometimes it may be due to the hysteria about communism that knocks common-sense and fairness out the window. There may be other motives, good or bad.

I have known grown men whose minds were so unsubtle that they reason this way:

1. I'm a loyal American. I'm against communism. No loyal American would ever have anything to do with communists.

2. Anyone who's had anything to do with communists, or outfits run by communists, must be a sympathizer and must be disloyal.

It never occurs to them that a completely innocent and loyal American may have been tangled up with communists without any intention of disloyalty or even sympathy with communism or even knowing his associates were communists.

In Russia, to be accused is the same as to be found guilty. There, once accused, a man has to prove he's innocent.

Here, under the tradition of western democracy, the opposite is the practice under law: no one is guilty until proven guilty beyond a reasonable doubt.

But every time we let ourselves slip over into the Russian view—accepting a mere accusation as proof of guilt—we are doing what we condemn the Russians for.

And in this way the thing we're fighting against and the values we are fighting to protect are the very values we sacrifice or disregard.

It's an easy trap to fall into. But every time it happens—every time an innocent person is judged guilty in the public mind when he's merely been accused—a piece of the democratic foundation has been chipped.

At this time in our history a man

Birth Details Now Being Kept Confidential

Health Board Here Issuing Wallet-Size Registration Card

Fayette Countians can now carry their birth certificates in their wallets and pocketbooks.

The health department here is keeping up-to-the-minute with the printing of wallet-size birth registration cards.

The change here follows an innovation of the State Division of Vital Statistics which has, since January 1, been issuing a card with plastic lamination and listing only the individual's name, birth-place and date of birth.

The birth registration cards given out here to Fayette Countians for the standard price of 50 cents contain the same information.

The new card does not state whether the person was born out of wedlock, what his parents' who recklessly accuses another of communism may protest his motives are the noblest—and he may believe they are—but he winds up using the same tactics as the communism he condemns.

With all the charges that have been flung around here in the past few years, the reader of a newspaper or the listener to the radio, may ask: what am I to believe? Where there's smoke there's fire, isn't there?

Not all the time. It sometimes depends on who's making the smoke. In reading about charges of communism in the newspaper or hearing it over the radio, there's one good rule for keeping a level head.

It's this: read carefully and listen well to see where the evidence is to back up an accuser's charges.

If the evidence isn't there, if what you read or hear are only accusations, keep an open mind until there is evidence or proof.

names were at the time of birth, or whether the person was adopted.

The removal of this information from the cards is in line with the decision of Ohio's Bureau of Vital Statistics to cooperate with over 15 other states in keeping birth records confidential.

Just Date, Place Wanted

According to Robert Klemm, assistant chief of the division most individuals want just their date and place of birth when they ask for a copy of their birth certificate.

Before the new change on January 1, the division issued copies of the certificate of birth as kept in the files at the state office building. Those certificates, the permanent records of all births in Ohio, contain the name of the father and mother.

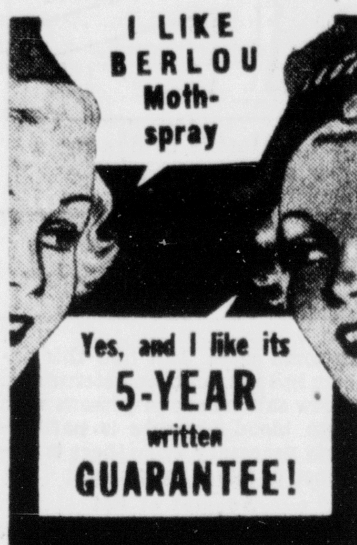

They also state whether the birth was "legitimate", weight at birth, length of mother's pregnancy, mother's mailing address and whether there was a congenital malformation.

This information is confidential and is never included on any photostatic copies of the birth certificate. It can be made public only on the order of a court for health or other reasons.

istration cards have been endorsed strongly by the Children's Bureau of the Federal Security Agency, the American Association of Registration Executives and the National Office of Vital Statistics.

The Ohio Division of Vital Statistics will not issue a birth certificate to anyone but the individual concerned without a valid reason. It will also not disclose to anyone who doesn't know it that he or she was born "illegitimate" or adopted after birth.

"Illegitimate births are registered with the surname of the mother," Klemm said. "If the parents are married at a later date, a new certificate is made out and the original sealed away. The new certificate lists the birth as legitimate."

"So far, the Veterans Administration is the only agency requiring a copy of the original certificate of birth," Klemm said.

A VA spokesman said the original certificate was needed in the case of veterans attending school who claim their parents as dependents. The birth registration card does not contain the name of the parents, while the certificate of birth does.

Fish Pumped in With New Medicine

SAN PEDRO, Calif., —(P)—H. J. Kimmerle invented a machine that pumps sardines from the sea. The fish are normally caught in nets. The Los Angeles inventor says he tested the device aboard a purse seiner and that it picked up sardines at the rate of from 30 to 200 tons an hour.

Kimmerle's unit consists of a vacuum pump hooked to an eight inch hose with a 10-inch funnel entrance. The funnel is dropped into a closely packed school. The fish are sucked up and discharged on a conveyor belt which carries them to the hold. The inventor hopes his system will be adopted by the local sardine fleet.

Nash sales growth since the war has been more than 4 times as great as that of the Automotive Industry as a whole*...

WHY NASH?

*In the four post-war years just ended, Nash sales have increased 95.7% over the same period pre-war, while the industry registered only a 21.3% gain, post-war over pre-war.

Why Nash? Because Nash has consistently led in the power parade—builder of valve-in-head engines for a third of a century—a leader in high compression.

Because today Nash alone builds a valve-in-head engine of 7.3 to 1 compression ratio that utilizes regular gasoline.

Why Nash? Because Nash was first with automatically-controlled, pressurized heating and ventilation, probably the greatest single health, comfort and safety feature of the modern automobile.

Because today's Nash Weather Eye Conditioned Air System is still first in efficiency and in safety—with fresh, untainted air drawn from outside, above the engine compartment.

Why Nash? Because Nash has been first and foremost in advocating—and delivering—greater gasoline mileage.

Because Nash today builds a big full-size car that delivers more than 25 miles to the gallon at average highway speed.

Why Nash? Because Nash was first to mass-produce the Unitized, welded body-and-frame car that is more rigid, durable, safer and free of squeaks and rattles.

Because today, 12 billion owner miles have proved that Unitized Nash Airframe Construction has set a new standard for long life and economical operation.

Why Nash? Because today's Nash Airflyte cars by scientific wind-tunnel test have been proved to have 20.7% less air drag than the average of 10 other cars tested—with noticeably less wind-noise, less fuel consumption, and noticeably greater stability.

Why Nash? Because Nash was first to attack the problem of rust by Bonderizing and by more durable baked enamels.

Because today all sheet metal parts of a Nash Airflyte are many times more resistant to wear and fading.

Why Nash? Because today's Nash Airflytes offer more combined passenger and luggage space, dollar for dollar, than any other car.

Why Nash? Because Nash has been years ahead in the development of the car interior. First to have the curved, one-piece windshield on all models, and Uniscopes—and today is the only car offering an Airliner Reclining Seat and Twin Beds.

Fingerprints and the FBI Records

Are your fingerprints on file?
If they're not it is a very good idea to arrange for such a record. No one ever knows when it will prove of real advantage.
There have been many occasions here in Fayette County when fingerprints have proven of definite value.
One of the crime-fighting ideas under study at Washington is the creation of a huge fingerprint file which would include the prints of every individual who holds a Social Security card. About a third of the people in the nation now have Social Security accounts; if the coverage should be broadened the proportion might be raised to a half or two-thirds of the total population.
If fingerprints of all Social Security account holders were placed on file, it would be logical to gather into that file also the prints filed by other government units, such as armed forces and the Civil Service Commission. The combined result would be an identification file covering most of the people in the nation.
The fingerprint file of the Federal Bureau of Investigation is in itself immensely valuable for identifying the owners of fingerprints entering into the investigation of crimes. But many times it is of no help in a particular case because the person who left the prints behind had never been embroiled with the law in such a way to get his fingerprints into that file. An additional file including the prints of almost everybody would supply the missing name in many such instances. Here it should be noted that while the FBI file is essentially one of criminal investigation, it contains the prints of a large number of ordinary citizens with blameless records, who have voluntarily contributed their prints to it.
A bigger file would have many non-criminal applications, in the identification of amnesia victims, accident or crime victims whose papers might have been lost or stolen, settling civil disputes of identity, and such. Of course it would make voluntary disappearance, even for innocent reasons, hard to achieve. But most people with ordinary relations toward the law are willing to stick to their own identities.

Roll of Civic Honor
Awards of honor have been made to eleven American cities. A jury of experts chosen by the National Municipal League has signaled these cities for special praise for their work in "political slum clearance", either in turning out long entrenched machines or in keeping out the predatory wolves that hang on the outside, ready at the first opportunity to seize control of city government.
Philadelphia and Boston head the list. The Quaker City at last upset part of the governing machine, whose scandals finally proved too many for the voters. Boston beat Mayor James M. Curley, who had been in office off and on for a generation and had been no credit to the city.
Real constructive work puts on the list cities like Cleveland, which is grappling with a sewage problem, not its own but that of the neighboring towns which pollute the city's river and lake. Pittsburgh's smoke control program puts it on the list. Other cities listed for similar achievements are Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Bayonne, N. J., San Antonio, Texas, Des Moines, Ia., Grand Rapids, Mich., Worcester, Mass., and Cincinnati.
Many stumping politicians sing a second-hand tune. Higher wages, lower taxes and more jobs have been promised before.

And She's Just Around the Corner By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—The fat man clumped heavily along the silent street, feeling sorry for all people who have to go to work by the dawn's early light. The traffic lights turned red. Though no car was in sight, the fat man paused cautiously on the curb from force of habit.
Before him in the street he saw a flock of pigeons, holding morning carnival. They seemed to be playing ring-around-a-rosy. The larger pigeon talked—"Coo, coo, coo." The smaller pigeons flitted just ahead of them, coo as debutantes, in narrowing circles.
"Romance before breakfast—ugh!" grunted the fat man. Then the traffic light changed to green. He stepped into the street and waved both hands.
"Shoo! off with you, you pavement Casanovas," he said. "It's time to start panhandling—your bums."
The pigeons flew off with an annoyed look, and the fat man walked on, wondering why he felt guilty.
He reached the next street and turned. And there—just around the corner—he saw the girl. She was young and pretty...she was leaning on a stop-bus sign...she was doing something with her long blonde hair...and she didn't have anything on but a trailing white filmy nightgown.

What next? muttered the fat man, and lowering his eyes he started to walk hurriedly on.
"Hi, big boy!" the girl called. "Come here and help me."
The fat man looked up and down the street. No one else in sight. He walked over to her hesitantly.
"What do you want, miss?" he asked.
"Help me tie this daffodil in my hair, silly," she said. He helped her fix the flower in her hair with trembling fingers. And then she lifted her head and he looked into her blue, blue eyes--and he felt like he was floating in the Mediterranean Sea off Tripoli.
Don't you recognize me, big boy? she asked. And then he knew her, and his heart felt an old knock.
"Sure. Sure, I know you," he said shakily.
"Aren't you glad to see me?" "Not particularly," he lied.
"Why?" she said coquettishly. "Because you're too much trouble," he said soberly. "You've hurt me too often. Every time I fall in love with you, you pack up and leave."
"Well, big boy, that's the truth," she smiled. "Love 'em and leave 'em--that's my motto. It keeps me young."
"Yes, but it makes me old,"

said the fat man. "Where've you been this time?"
"Down south as usual, you all," she mocked. She shivered a little in her thin garb.
"Cold--eh?" he said, maliciously.
"Not very," she laughed. "I bring my own weather with me. Can't you feel it?"
The fat man lifted his hand. And, sure enough, a warming wind was blowing in, fresh from distant meadows. And the flock of pigeons flew down at their feet and started cooing.
"I'll bet you don't even remember my name," the girl said softly.
"Oh, I'll never forget that--you're Spring," said the fat man. "And you'll never forget me, will you, big boy?" she asked.
"No, I'll never forget you--but sometimes I almost wish I could."
Spring slipped an arm in his and said:
"I'll walk you to work, big boy. Just for old time's sake. But let's don't walk--let's skip."
"I'm too fat," said the man, but she put a finger to his lips and whispered, "you're only as fat as you feel." And so, arm in arm, off they went--hoppity...hoppity...hoppity.
And, looking after, the pigeons gravely wondered why the big fat man was skipping all alone down an empty street, laughing aloud to himself. But pigeons just don't understand people.

China's Representation Problems By George Sokolsky

Frederick V. Field is a busy man who now, among other things, is the president of the American-Chinese Export Company, which has been organized to engage in trade with Soviet China. He is also a Communist editor and one of the mainstays of many Communist front organizations.
Frederick Vanderbilt Field is another example of the native American of old-family stock in radical movements. I am particularly anxious to call attention to this group because, in the Hiss case, the point was often made that it is unbelievable that a person with Hiss's background could be a Communist. Field's background is of the very best—including Harvard.
So, all of a sudden he becomes the representative of the Bank of China because the Communists seized that bank when they conquered China. When that event happened, the legitimate officers of that bank were declared to be war criminals and the Communists appointed their own officials. The object of the appointment of Frederick V. Field was to take over the property and deposits held by the bank of China in the United States.

Several banks in the United States were notified of the intentions of Soviet China. As the government of the United States recognizes Nationalist China and refuses recognition to Soviet China, banks generally have ignored the Communist notice and have continued to do business with duly authorized officials of the bank of China.
The Wells Fargo Bank and Union Trust Co. in California, however, wanted a judicial decision before they would turn over funds deposited with them in good faith, to those who made the deposit. Therefore, a suit was brought by the Soviet-seized Bank of China against the Wells Fargo Bank. The United States District Court for Northern California will have to decide which is the rightful ruler of China, Chiang Kai-Shek or Mao Tse-tung.
Frederick V. Field has retained Wolf, Popper, Ross and Wolf as counsel and they have advised him "...That he is the only person legally authorized to act on behalf of the Bank of China..." in the United States.
It would seem that as only Dean Acheson, secretary of state, can determine, on authority of the president of the United States, which government the United States recognizes and who is entitled to speak for that government in any of its capacities, Messrs. Wolf, Popper, Ross and Wolf therefore have usurped Mr. Acheson's authority.

Field's relations with the bank of China stem from the American council of the institute of Pacific relations. Field used to be secretary of the American council of the institute of Pacific relations and also its angel and there he met Chi Chao-Ting, in 1936, who is now assistant general manager of the Soviet-seized bank. Since then Chi has been in and out of the United States--in 1938, he went back to China; in 1939, he returned to the U. S.; in 1941, he went back to China; in 1945, he came here and returned to China.
A busy commuter, this Dr. Chi, and now he has landed a job with Soviet China. Maybe he belonged to them right along; I do not know.
The way the Communists seized the bank of China was to declare certain Chinese as war criminals and then to confiscate their investments in the bank without any process of law. (It is a mixed government and privately owned bank.)
Why Americans should represent a regime which the government of the United States does not recognize is difficult to understand, although I assume that it is quite legal. The law has provided itself a bulwark in the United States for the Communists; they seem always to find a law to use and they go ahead doing as they please in our country, even stealing our atom bomb.
Yet, it would seem reasonable to assume that when this country is in a state of permanent war with Soviet Russia, no American would serve our enemy or any of its satellites. Maybe Congress needs to pass a law about that, too.

Diet and Health With Heart Trouble

By HERMAN M. BUNDESEN, M.D.
I RECEIVE many letters from people with heart disease asking whether or not they should use a special diet or cut down on the amount of certain foods. In general, it may be said that restriction of food in patients with disorders of the heart is usually unnecessary unless the person is a great deal overweight. This is particularly true when the heart condition is complicated by any degree of kidney failure.
On the other hand, while the heart patient should have an adequate amount of food, it is important that he restrict the salt content of his diet. If this is done, a normal intake of water and other fluids will be harmless. If the kidneys are not working properly, extra water (at least a quart a day) may be of value in helping to make sure that all of the waste materials are gotten rid of through the kidneys.
In the Diet
Cutting down on the protein foods in the diet, that is, meat, milk, and eggs, is of no value in heart and blood vessel disease. However, if the kidneys are damaged, the lessened protein intake may be important. But, a great decrease in the amount of protein is necessary in these cases before any benefit is obtained. Of course, such a diet must be used only under the directions of a doctor.
Salt restriction also seems to help reduce high blood pressure.
(Copyright, 1950, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

In some cases. Just how this occurs has not yet been determined. A low salt intake in persons with high blood pressure is particularly necessary when there is evidence of heart weakness.
Amount of Fat
There are some who think that persons with heart and blood vessel disease may do better if the amount of fat in the diet is decreased, and particularly those fats (such as butter and animal fats) which contain a substance known as cholesterol. This substance is found in all of the tissues of the body. It is thought that an excess of cholesterol may favor hardening of the arteries.
In general, a person with heart and blood vessel disease should have a well-balanced diet limited in salt according to the physician's directions. It is necessary to make sure that all of the necessary minerals and vitamins are supplied by tablets or capsules if necessary. The amount of protein in the diet may be extremely limited in certain cases of kidney disease, but if there is no kidney disease, liberal amounts of these foods have no harmful effect.

A. A.: Is there any hope seen for the near future of taking insulin by mouth instead of injection?
Answer: I do not know of any available, nor of any contemplated in the future which could be taken by mouth instead of by injection.

Double the harvest from the same space, or the same yield from half the space you have been using, may be the reward for a few hours spent this winter in planning a production schedule for your vegetable garden.
The problem is to use all your garden area all the time, from spading the soil in the spring, until the winter freezeup comes. The short season crops should be sown frequently enough to provide a continuous harvest throughout the season; and the space given each crop should be based on the family needs, so that no wasteful surpluses or annoying scarcities are experienced.
Seed, fertilizer, insecticides, and above all your own time may be halved by a well-thought plan.

Spectator Killed At 'Hot Rod' Race

WALL TOWNSHIP, N. J., March 14 - (AP) - A wheel torn from a "hot rod" racing car smashed into a crowd of spectators yesterday and killed a 17-year-old youth.

The wheel also injured another boy. Some 3,500 persons were watching the race at the Monmouth County Airport Raceway.

The hot rod driver, John Chapman, 23, of Metedeconk, told state police his racer had blown two tires, throwing the vehicle into a spin. He halted the jalopy after it swerved close to the crowd.

Seventeen-year-old Albert A. Jester of Avon died in an ambulance from his injuries suffered when struck by the wheel. Henry Fee, 15, also of Avon, was hospitalized with a neck injury.

A portable radio and a shirt were stolen from his room while he slept. He traced the property to the operator of a boarding house who had purchased it, innocently. But, said the boarding house keeper sadly, just before Jones arrived the radio and shirt had been stolen again - apparently by the man who lifted them from Jones.

Students and Faculty To Clash--On Court

The cream of the basketball talent of Washington High School, outside of the varsity will battle for the men and women's mythical championships Thursday evening.

In the 7:30 P. M. opener of a doubleheader at the WHS gym, the Bobby Soxers, champs of the girls' intramural league, will play a female faculty team.

The second game will send the Dribbling V, titleholders in the boys' intramural league, against an all-star array picked from the men teachers of the high school.

The twin-bill is being staged for the benefit of the athletic fund, the proceeds to pay for athletic equipment used at the school. The admission has been set at 25 cents for everyone and even activity tickets will not be honored.

Edith Ramage will captain the faculty women, who will draw their team from Sara Keck, Wanda Plantz, Muriel Morton, Dorothy Everhart, Marie Marchant, Mary Marchant and Dorothy Guinn. Bobby Soxers Unbeaten

The Bobby Soxers, unbeaten during regular season play, will be led by Captain Jane Terrell. The starting line-up will come from Jean Scholl, Jean Perrill, Shirley Pyle, Barbara Manahan, Helen Justice, Jane Washburn, Helen Hynes and Joann Cockerill.

The women will play the one-dribble type of game, with six girls in the line-up and according to the rules used in girls' intramurals at WHS.

The Dribbling V, who recently copped the intramural championship from the Fouling V, 19-7, will field a team selected from Jim Aleshire, Bill Horney, Joe Burke, Ray Anderson, Joe Mann, Jim Johnson, Benson and Andrews.

The faculty men, captained by Ron Guinn, will have a big crew of experienced courtmen to draw from. In addition, they will outweigh their opponents.

On the faculty team are Charles Mustine, Robert Auginbaugh, Bill Clift, Robert Eisenbrey, Arthur Engle, Charles Pensyl, Fred Pierson, William Robinson, Gordon Ryder, Mark Shaepfer, G. B. Vance and Jack White.

Steve Lewis, if he doesn't don a uniform, will be the official scorer.

Between the games, an exhibition wrestling match will be staged between Dale Orihood and James Reynolds.

Mary Waters will also entertain with the reading of a satire on a basketball spectator.

So, go to it, students. The scoreboard marks you on the test.

Everything Else Is Mixed with Art

ROCHESTER, Minn. — (AP) — Enrique Arguelles has had a varied vocational career, but through it all has run a consistent painting career that started with his high school days in Spain. Currently, he is completing murals on the walls of the tap-room in the hotel where he is employed as a bartender. The 47 year old artist has worked as a hospital cook, a police officer, a machine shop foreman and for five years was a special administrator for president Lazaro Cardenas of Mexico. His interest in art is strictly a sideline.

Much of his work has been exhibited. He has painted scores of landscapes and florals. Four of the latter were exhibited several months ago in the Rochester Art Center.

THE LATEST in double duty fashions is this white nylon evening gown (left), modeled by screen starlet Barbara Freking, that features a low neckline decorated with a spray of ruffles and confetti-colored sequins. For those who like to "go overboard" as the evening wears on, the skirt comes off to reveal a white nylon swimsuit. (International)

School Boxing Tourney Workouts Under Way

There's going to be a lot of fighting in the high school gymnasium before long—but it'll all be just good clean sport and part of the education program.

Workouts started without fanfare last week, and they are continuing on a three-a-week schedule.

Later this month, the youthful pugilists will get a chance to perform before the public when the tournament is held.

This is not new in Washington C. H. Boxing and the ring tournaments were started back before the war by Coach Fred Pierson.

He said they were to teach the kids the "manly art of self defense" and to build them up physically.

The boxing, like so many other activities, fell victim to wartime handicaps. But, when the fighting was over over there, it started again here.

The program takes in boys who interested from the first grade in the elementary schools clear on through the high school. It's not compulsory, but it's open to all who want to get in.

Some of the little fellows are almost overbalanced by the big feathered gloves on their hands.

What is lacking in technique is usually made up in spirit.

The bouts have never failed to draw big crowds--and not all have been school pupils. The fair sex, too, always has been well represented.

Coach Pierson has enlisted the aid of Ron Guinn, the junior high coach, and Tut Jackson, one time professional fighter who rose to the upper levels of the heavyweight ranks a couple of decades ago.

Pierson said the battlers would be classified by weight and by grades in school to make sure there are no advantages.

The date for the tourney will be set in the near future, Pierson said.

Meanwhile, the workouts continue under the watchful eye of the three instructors.

Legion Wins; Rifles Topple Bloomingburg

The Rifles cagers knocked league-leading Bloomingburg from the ranks of the unbeaten Monday night by a 58-49 score.

In the finale of a Cage League twin-bill at the Army, the Legion held on to a second-place tie with Rifles by staving off a fighty Company "M" team long enough to win, 52-48.

Both games gave a larger than usual crowd more than their money's worth as the results tightened up the league race in the homestretch.

Rifles got away to an early 9-4 lead, but Bloomingburg rushed back to take it briefly, then faded as Rifles moved ahead to stay.

The score at halftime was 27-20, in Rifles favor, and they stretched the margin to 17 points before the second half got to the midway point.

Then the Bloomingburg cagers started hitting and hacked away at the lead, but Rifles managed to keep enough of a lead to beat the clock.

Clyde Helsing and Frelan Van Meter paced the winners, ranking up 16 and 14 points, respectively.

For Bloomingburg, Jim Haightcock and Don Compton hit for 12 points apiece to pace the losers. Rifles made good on 10 of 25 free throws, while Bloomingburg put in 7 out of 16.

The Legionnaires held a bare, 23-22, edge at intermission and had to battle to come out on top, 52-48. The victory was the Legion's third and they will meet the league-leading Bloomingburg club in the first game Friday in an attempt to throw the race into a three-way tie for the lead.

Ron Guinn had a hot night as he tossed in a variety of shots to lead the legion with 16 points. Gene Stanforth cut the cords consistently on set shots and garnered 14 tallies. For the losers, Wayne Polk and Bellar led with 11 apiece.

Joe Waddle and Bob Alkire kept both games well in hand in officiating.

So, for Friday, it will be the Legion vs Bloomingburg at 7:30 P. M. and Rifles vs Company M in the second game.

Here's how the changed standings look:

Bloomingburg 4 1
Rifles 3 2
Legion 3 2
Company M 0 5

The Mt. Sterling Boosters dropped into fourth place when the Rotarians jolted them with a three-game defeat. The Rotarians, who were in the cellar six weeks ago, are staging a home stretch drive that has brought them into a tie for fourth place.

The last place Universals won the first and last games of their match with the Sabina Moose.

The highlight of the evening was Gene McLean's bowling for the Lions. He tied together games of 186, 218 and 224 for a 628 total.

Kirkpatrick Girls Pull Out in Front

The Kirkpatrick Funeral Home girls today could breathe a little easier after winning all three games from the Candymakers to tighten their grip on the top of the Ladies League.

The Try-Me Taxicab, who had been close on their heels, faltered in their drive when they lost the last game of their match with the Loudner quintet in Monday night's bowling at Bowland.

A separate race is developing behind the first three teams.

Funk's Restaurant girls from Jeffersonville jumped into fourth place ahead of the Morris Store crew by making a clean sweep of their match with the NCR team while the Morris were losing three to the Montgomery Warders.

Outlook Better At Reds Camp

Competition Keen For Places on Team

BY JACK HAND

TAMPA, Fla., March 14—(AP)—This is a different Cincinnati training camp. The old guard is gone. No Bucky Walters. No Johnny Vandermeer. The last remnants of the 1940 champions have vanished.

Luke Sewell is the manager in this Cincinnati new deal. It's the same Luke who won a measure of fame by leading the St. Louis Browns out of the wilderness to their first and only pennant in 1944.

"We'll win more games than we did last season," Sewell said today with conviction. He knows the 1949 details because he served as coach under Manager Walters.

Blackie Better

For the second straight spring, Sewell Blackwell is the big question mark. Virtually useless last summer after a serious kidney operation, "Blackie" piled on some 30 pounds during the winter. The gangling right-hander with the baffling sidarm motion now weighs more than 200. Last spring he was a "ghost" at 165.

Sewell, feeling his way slowly, counts only two Reds sure of their jobs—Hatten at third and Siall-cup at short. He has a four-way fight at second. First a battle between Kluszewski and injured Joe Adcock, up from Tulsa.

Outfield Problem

"Picking my outfield is the big problem," said Sewell. "We have nine in camp. Merriman is going to be tough to beat and Johnny Wyrostek hit three homers against Detroit Sunday."

Merriman, a bonus player, must remain with the club. Among the other candidates, Sewell has today proved Major leaguers as Ron Northey, Danny Lithwhiler, Marv Rackley, Peanuts Lowrey and

Ohio High School Boy Is Signed by Indians

YOUNGSTOWN, March 14—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians have signed third baseman Tom Vargulich, 19-year-old former star of nearby Struthers High School. Vargulich is on his way to the Tribe's farm club training base at Daytona Beach, Fla., and will be assigned to a team later.

London's Protest Of Tourney Defeat Got Just Nowhere

COLUMBUS, March 14—(AP)—Two Ohio high school basketball teams protesting their losses in district finals appeared to be getting nowhere today.

One disputed game was won by Worthington 35-34 over London. London fans believe it should be declared a tie since a point scored for Worthington was marked down by a score-keeper who mistook a ball thrown by the referee to clear the basket for a free throw tossed by Worthington's Jack Woods.

H. M. Emswiler, Ohio high school Athletic Association Commissioner, confirmed the score Saturday.

He added the two teams could replay the game—but Worthington declined.

Akron St. Vincent of class A protested its loss to Akron South, 45-42, in an overtime period. In that game the clock was stopped with one second to play in the game. A fouled St. Vincent player made a free throw, putting his team one point ahead. Then the referee called a technical foul, and South tied up the score, sending the game into an overtime.

Officials in Emswiler's office said the St. Vincent protest was not valid.

CHAPTER THIRTY EIGHT

"I'M PRETTY sure this is the man who attacked Miss Hamilton," said Shayne. "If you think it's safe to arouse her, we'll try to get a definite identification."

"I see. Of course. I'll have a look at the patient and let you know at once. The doctor and Miss Naylor went into the room and closed the door. Randolph sat with his head resting against the back of the couch. He looked straight across the room, avoiding Shayne's eyes. It simply can't believe this is happening to me," he said in a flat, dead voice. "I do believe you're serious about this."

"I was never more serious in my life," Shayne assured him. "I've read about things like this happening to other men. Randolph said. 'Being caught up in a net of circumstances. Innocent men, like myself. Going along and minding their own business. Suddenly accused of murder.'"

"Innocent men can generally prove their innocence."

"But sometimes they can't," Randolph exclaimed, throwing out his hands wildly. "Suppose this girl does think she recognizes me. Suppose I do resemble the man you say attacked her. I can't prove it wasn't I. You know how faulty such identifications can be. If she only caught one glimpse of the man."

"How do you know she caught only a glimpse of him?"

"Why... you said so," faltered Randolph. "Over at my place."

Shayne shook his head grimly. "I didn't say anything of the kind. The only way you could possibly have known that is by having been here last night."

"You implied it. Something you said gave me the impression."

"I didn't even imply it. I said that Miss Hamilton had a good look at the man who attacked her," Shayne said flatly.

His telephone rang. He went over and took the receiver down. Keeping his gaze on Randolph, he said, "Hello. Oh, Tim, that's fine. Fast work. Read 'em to me." He listened, and a frown began to crease his forehead. A worried frown of disbelief. He caught his earlobe between thumb and forefinger and tugged at it.

"Both of them?" he exclaimed after a time. "That should mean something, but I'm not sure just what. Listen, Tim. Get both those men on long distance and tell them it's vitally important to dig up every bit of information available on both King and Kendrick. As far back as they can dig in a hurry."

"Sure it'll cost money," he continued impatiently. "I'll take care of the expense if your miserly paper won't pay out a few bucks for the inside dope on one of the"

Shayne shook his head slowly. "I don't know what I hope to dredge up. It becomes clearer and clearer that there's a pattern to these three cases of star rubies which were stolen immediately afterwards and which never reappeared. It's still vague and I haven't put my finger on the motivation behind it. When I do that, the whole complicated plot will emerge clearly. And I think you can do that for me," he added.

"I know nothing," Randolph disclaimed violently. "Absolutely nothing."

The bedroom door opened and Miss Naylor said, "It's all right to come in now, Mr. Shayne."

Shayne stood up. "This is it, Randolph. Put on that Panama and walk in that door in front of me."

Earl Randolph's hands shook as he put the hat on and adjusted the brim. He got up shakily and went slowly toward the bedroom door, hesitated like a swimmer pausing on the brink before diving into an icy stream, then stepped inside.

Shayne was close behind him. Dr. Price and Miss Naylor stood back near the window and watched the scene with intense interest.

Lucy looked up at Randolph with wide eyes. Her gaze stayed on his

Beating Is Fatal To Mental Patient

CAMBRIDGE, March 14—(AP)—A 76-year-old former mental patient died Monday of injuries and shock resulting from a beating at her home in Flushing (Belmont County).

Dr. A. T. Hopwood, superintendent of the Cambridge State Hospital for the mentally ill, said Mrs. Tessie Bucco, 76, was readmitted to the hospital Saturday night.

The superintendent said Mrs. Bucco related she had been beaten in a domestic quarrel. Sheriff Cloyd Barriacklaw of No charges have been filed. The Belmont County is investigating. Belmont County coroner has ordered an autopsy.

Dr. Hopwood said Mrs. Bucco had been in and out of the hospital as a patient "several times." He had sent her home in Flushing Jan. 16 on a "trial visit."

A cow has been found to utilize up to 25 pounds of chopped white potatoes a day in milk production.

Fight Is Fatal To Labor Leader

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., March 14—(AP)—B. T. (Hank) Wolford, 45, regional director and staff representative of the CIO, died after a fight at the Moose Lodge, Coroner F. X. Schuller reported.

Dr. Schuller said he found the body of the labor leader on the floor of a rest room at the lodge.

He returned a temporary finding of death from "unknown injuries" resulting from a fight. The altercation, the coroner said he was told followed a heated argument.

Police immediately took into custody for questioning six members of the lodge. No arrests had been made early today.

Wolford had served as regional director since 1943.

Dancing in School Approved by Voters

SALEM, March 14—(AP)—There is going to be dancing for the first time in 30 years at Goshen Union high school at nearby Damascus. An election Saturday went 494 to 255 in favor of allowing supervised dances.

The board of education in the predominantly Quaker community called the vote after being petitioned by 160 parents of children attending school.

cooperating with the ministry of religious affairs in providing care for orphans, the aged, religious libraries and mosques. Moslems enjoy all the legal privileges of an Israeli citizen.

Moslem Officials

During the last six months about 60 Moslem officials have been appointed by the government, bringing the total to 150. Of these, 40 are muezzins, imams, preachers, mosque keepers and sheiks. Sheikh Taher E-Tabari recently was named Israel's first Kadi (district judge) for civil and religious matters. The post is next in line to the highest religious one of Mufti.

Religious services now are held in more than 70 Mosques in Israel. Arabic is being taught in 75 schools.

The government recently published registration and receipt books, printed in Hebrew and Arabic, to be used by Moslem officials in carrying out wedding ceremonies. Fees collected by Moslems who perform weddings are paid into the Israeli treasury.

Development Program

The government, too, has appropriated large funds for the development of Moslem farms and villages.

The 1,000 Circassians living in Israel now enjoy full freedom in their two villages—Rihania, near Safad, not far from Haifa, and Kfar Kama, near Tiberias. They have a "kutab"—Moslem elementary religious schools of their own.

Fifteen thousand Druzes are scattered in 18 villages. They are split into separate groups which follow three spiritual leaders. The latter reside in Abu Snan, Yulis and Yerka in western Galilee.

The Druzes are entitled to a kadi of their own to deal with their religious affairs but so far they have not agreed on the person for the post.

A special committee, headed by Prof. L. A. Mayer of the Hebrew University, Jerusalem, now is studying the status of Moslem monuments scattered over Israel. The group hopes to work out plans for the preservation of these sites.

There are about 30,000 Christian Arabs in Israel.

Wounded Man Pleads Guilty

Man Shot at Hilltop
Inn Is Arraigned

Herbert Hatfield, ex-convict of near Austin, charged with breaking into the Hilltop Inn service station on the Chillicothe Highway the night of Feb. 18 entered a plea of guilty and was held to the Ross County grand jury with bail fixed at $5,000.

Hatfield was arraigned before Justice Reed Cory of Frankfort. He also pleaded guilty to grand larceny in the theft of chickens from Willard Peterson on whose farm he resided.

Hatfield was shot by Scott Goff, owner of the station, when he interrupted Hatfield and his brother-in-law Dorsey Beatty in the act of stealing a $300 television set from the service station.

Hatfield made a break for liberty when discovered in the station, and Goff opened fire with a sawed-off shotgun, badly wounding Hatfield in the left hand and arm. For a time it was feared that amputation of his hand would be necessary.

Kept under guard at the Chillicothe Hospital for several days, Hatfield was later taken to the Ross County Jail.

Search for Beatty is continuing. Beatty escaped by crashing through a rear window of the station about the time Hatfield was shot.

Beatty's automobile, containing two coops of stolen chickens, was abandoned in front of the station. Hatfield was arrested soon after the shooting, by Sheriff Orland Hays as he was walking along the Chillicothe Road toward Frankfort.

read that right, did I?"

"Hardly. What you've put in there was your compensation before payroll deductions. That throws the whole thing off."

"It does, doesn't it?" I agreed. "Well, that's what comes of working late at night. I'll just put this aside 'til tomorrow..."

"You'll do no such thing!"

Well, gosh. It isn't due until midnight tomorrow."

I looked at my wife. She looked at me.

Slowly, she reached over and took Form 1040 from my resisting fingers.

"You win," she said. "I'll do it for you. Go along to bed. Do you know," she called after me, "what keeps me going from year to year?"

"Nnnnn!"

"It's the hope," said my wife,

"the dim hope that someday, some year, you'll make out your income tax return all by yourself."

Maybe This is the Year!

A great many people have been saying that—if their luck keeps pace with their dreams—they're going to own a Cadillac one of these years.

If you are among them—and we hope you are—this may be the year. Listen...

... Cadillac has built a great new car, for 1950, that is just as practical to own as almost any car you would consider buying.

It is the new "Sixty-One"—and it is priced lower than the highest-priced models of a number of other cars you would never think of as in the same class with Cadillac.

Furthermore, this new Cadillac will give gasoline mileage which actually approaches that of the lowest-priced popular cars.

Yes—from the standpoint of practicality—you've lost about your last logical reason for waiting any longer to buy a Cadillac.

And, oh, the things that say you ought to buy one—right here and now!

There's Cadillac's irresistible beauty—its delightful performance—its world-wide prestige—and its unbelievable endurance and length of life. Truly you'd find every motoring experience enriched and enlivened if you owned this magnificent car.

Better come in today—and find out whether this is the year! We'd be delighted to see you.

AUTO ACCIDENTS COST MORE TODAY

In two years time the annual automobile accident bill has almost doubled. It costs more to fix crumpled fenders and to patch up broken heads. More people, driving more miles, at higher speeds produce more accidents. To pay the bill you will have to "dig deeper" if you have no insurance on your car. Why take that chance?

THE MODERN OUTLOOK

With modern architects putting more and more accent on windows, making entire walls of glass, our own windows sometimes seem stunted by comparison. But there's much we can do to make ordinary-sized windows seem large and important... make them the focal point of our decorative scheme.

The room sketched above was a drab, high-ceilinged ugly duckling until an exciting color scheme and roll-up-roll-down bamboo blinds in a unique (and inexpensive) window treatment lifted it out of the ordinary.

The walls, woodwork and blinds have been painted a soft tone of green. The high ceiling has been lowered effectively with Chinese-patterned wall paper with coral background. The blinds which roll down from ceiling, up from floor give the effect of a wall-high window and make draperies superfluous.

This background is a perfect foil for Chinese Modern furnishings. The davenport in clear rich coral, the upholstered chairs in deep egg plant harmonize with and enhance the simple elegance of the bleached mahogany tables and chests. The low mirror coffee table accents the modern feeling.

We are constantly on the alert for ideas that will bring up-to-the-minute freshness and fashion to your rooms. Come in and let's talk them over.
